

Parallel Avocats advised Plume in its €3.3m Seed financing round

Parallel Avocats has advised Plume in its €3.3m Seed financing round led by AENU, with the participation of Y Combinator, Kima Ventures, Raise Sherpas and Collab Fund.

A Franco-American startup and Y Combinator alumnus, Plume develops a geospatial AI platform for the deployment of renewable energy. By aggregating more than 150 sources of geospatial data and regulatory documents, its technology analyses a site's potential for solar, wind or storage projects in seconds. The funding will support team growth and expansion into new European markets.

The Parallel Avocats team that advised Plume comprises Jérémie Aflalo (partner).
